VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, JUNE 29, 1929

"SPECIAL" IS WRECKED; KIWANIANS NEAR DEATH

SIR HAMAR GREENWOOD IS BARON

Former Canadian Remembered in List of Honors Conferred by King and Just Announced

VISCOUNT PEEL BECOMES EARL

Sir William Joynson-Hicks, Late Home Secretary, Takes Two Steps in Peerage

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 28.—The list of honors conferred by His Majesty in connection with the resignation of Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin as Prime Minister, issued tonight, is not unduly long, nor does it contain many surprises. Viscount Peel, former Secretary of State for India, who will be well remembered in Canada as leader of the contingent of visiting British parliamentarians last year, is raised to an earldom. Sir William Joynson-Hicks, late Home Secretary, becomes a viscount, thus taking two steps in the peerage at one bound.

But most interesting to Canadians and possibly most interesting to the people of Britain also, is the granting of a barony to Rt. Hon. Sir Hamar Greenwood, a native of Whitby, Ont., and the last man to occupy the position of Secretary for Ireland in the British Government. Sir Hamar, or Lord Greenwood, as he must be called now, known as much about the rough and tumble of English election battles as any man, even as much as his great friend, Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, when he emulated a few years ago by passing from the Liberal to the Conservative party.

LAWYER BY PROFESSION

It was announced at the time that Lord Greenwood had resigned owing to the increasing pressure of his business interests. By profession a barrister, Lord Greenwood has not followed this calling for a long time. At present he holds a number of directorships, most important being the chairmanship of a large London catering company.

The elevation of the former Home Secretary to the House of Lords as Viscount Joynson-Hicks will undoubtedly be a severe loss to the Conservative party's battles in opposition in the present Parliament. He will in fact be missed by all sides in the House of Commons. He is essentially a Commons man, pugnacious but scrupulously fair to his opponents, and in spite of what many deemed a Puritanical outlook on his duties as Home Secretary, he had a saving grace of humor.

ONCE SECRETARY FOR INDIA

Lord Peel, who becomes an earl, for many years has occupied one or another of the cabinet positions. He was Secretary for India from 1922 to 1924, then Commissioner of Works, then again Secretary for India on the resignation of Lord Birkenhead last year. He is also something of a sportsman.

COAL INDUSTRY OF AUSTRALIA IS DISRUPTED

Council of Combined Unions Decides to Repudiate Agreement to Accept Reduced Pay

MINERS' REASONS GIVEN TO PUBLIC

SYDNEY, N.S.W., June 28.—Disputes have again broken out in the Australian coal industry.

Although the miners recently agreed to resume work at reduced wages if the royal commission of inquiry would agree that their estimates of costs needed revision, the council of the combined mining unions decided to repudiate the undertaking to resume work.

The cause was the commission's decision to examine company accounts in camera.

PRINCE AT CALGARY

CALGARY, June 28.—Returning from Japan after a diplomatic mission, where he recently conferred the Order of the Garter upon the Emperor, Prince Henry, Duke of Gloucester, passed through Calgary during the early hours of Friday morning. His car was attached to No. 3 from the Pacific Coast. The train arrived at 1.30 a.m., and left for the East at 2.35 a.m. His Royal Highness, it was stated, had practically recovered from injuries received at Vancouver while playing polo.

VANCOUVER, June 28.—An inmate of Oakalla Jail for over a year under a sentence of Bigamy Magistrate W. A. Hamon, Cumberland, for having opium in his possession, Twee Gong, of Bevan, Vancouver Island, succeeded in habeas corpus proceedings, in having the conviction quashed by Chief Justice Morrison, in Supreme Court.

The Chinaman would have been deported at the expiration of his prison term. His counsel, J. B. Nicholson, argued that the conviction was invalid for the reason that it omitted to state that a $500 fine and $60 costs were "forfeited."

SOVIET UNION AGAIN APPLIES DEATH PENALTY

MOSCOW, June 28.—Death sentences in the Soviet Union, which had considerably decreased lately took a sudden jump yesterday. The Moscow Circuit Court sentenced to death before a flying squad Boris Judge Padakov, of the State of Tver, and the bandit Sokolov. The prosecutor had shown that the latter had closely co-operated with the bandits in supplying arms and giving judicial protection to the marauders.

The Uzbekigan Supreme Court sentenced to a similar death four bandits who, operating under the leadership of Puzaili Maksuma, had hanged several women for not wearing the veil of Moslem custom, which has been abolished by the Soviet.

From Minsk came the report that the death sentence was passed on Konsy Pilchuck for killing a village newspaper correspondent named Sanko.

MADRID, June 28.—The Spanish Government considers it has done everything in its power to locate Ramon Franco and his three companions, who disappeared last Saturday, on a transatlantic flight venture. Therefore, a public statement by the Ministry of Marine said further search had been abandoned as practically useless.

Mining Man Killed

TROY, Mont., June 28.—W. J. Armenian Boy Is Adopted by Rev. C. C. Owen

VANCOUVER, June 28.—Echoes of the Armenian massacres were heard in Supreme Court today when Chief Justice Morrison approved the adoption by Rev. C. C. Owen and Mrs. Owen, of twelve-year-old Louise Kaschkarian, both of Sayrouth, Armenia.

Six years ago the boy came under the care of the Near East Relief Orphanage, after he had been deported from Turkey. All trace has been lost of his parents, and H. E. Molosse, who made the application, explained that the mother and father had apparently perished in one of several massacres which had swept Beyrouth at the hands of the Turks.

MINEOLA, N.Y., June 28.—Viola Gentry, woman pilot, critically injured in the crash this morning of an endurance test monoplane, was given a blood transfusion late today. During the operation she kept her spirits up.

"Jack Asheraft was at the controls," she said. "The gas ran low and we were very high. The ground was covered with fog and a landing was impossible. Then the gas gave out.

"The engine stopped and we started down, trying to pick a hole in the fog. Suddenly something happened, I don't know what, and that's all I know. They haven't told me what happened to Jack, but he was in the front seat and so I know he was killed."

Both Miss Gentry's arms were broken in four or five places, both elbows were broken, there is a deep cut in her left eye, her forehead above the eyes, a deep gash in the neck and there are internal injuries.

NO B.C. MONEY IN GOLF LINKS SAYS BACKER

Head of General Construction Company Explains Government Work on U.B.C. Lands

HEAVY CLEARING WAS UNDERSTOOD

VANCOUVER, June 28—Work done by Government money and by employees of the Province on sections of the university lands under lease to private interests for the purpose of making a public golf course, was merely the fulfilment of a moral obligation on the part of the lessors to hand over the 120-acre tract cleared of the original stand of timber, according to Mr. John Boyd, president of the General Construction Company, one of the chief backers of the scheme.

In an interview following publication of charges that Government funds had been used for the development of the golf course, a purely private venture, Mr. Boyd denied that any Government money had been paid to his company for the work done.

Mr. Boyd undertook to give his explanation of the charges, on the absence from Vancouver of Major Frank M. Ballard, president of the university section, who is the prime mover in the development of the golf course on lands leased from the university for a period of twenty years. While a skeleton company is in existence to take over the project, at present Major Ballard and Mr. Boyd are the two men who have advanced money to finance construction. It is expected to open the first nine holes of the course this Autumn.

CARRIED ON NEGOTIATIONS

Major Ballard carried on the negotiations for the lease of the property with the late Government and the present administration, and it was clearly understood that the 120 rectangles of land on either side of the university boulevard, just west of the gates, would be handed over stumped," said Mr. Boyd.

"There was no provision for this in the lease, so far as I know, but it was certainly a clear understanding. This is the only work which has been done on the property by Government men since we leased it. They cleared the land of the original timber stand and we finished the job."

Mr. Boyd explains that the whole lease consists of 120 acres consisting of the two rectangles on either side of the boulevard, the northern portion being slightly larger. On the western end of both parcels of land some of the original timber remained. The rest of the land was cleared some years ago for unemployment relief purposes.

NO SECRECY ABOUT IT

"There was no secrecy about it," declared Mr. Boyd. "The Government men worked on that part of the land, did the heavy work for us and we followed up with the finishing work. I believe this expenditure was kept in a separate account and there should have been little difficulty in finding out what had been done.

"My company did not do any work for which the Government paid.

"The scheme was suggested to me by Major Ballard and I thought it was a good idea and it provided Winter work for our equipment. I believe that it will be a great improvement to that section and it will remove an eyesore from land that will not be needed by the university for twelve or fifteen years if the land had been left, a second clearing of major portions would have been necessary within a few years."

$1,000 DAMAGES SOUGHT IN SUIT

Singer Roger Berry Launches Court Action for Alleged Wrongful Dismissal From Club

In a writ issued in the Supreme Court yesterday morning through his solicitor, Mr. P. J. Sinnett, the plaintiff, Singer Roger Berry claims $1,000 damages for alleged wrongful and irregular expulsion from the Victoria branch of the Canadian Pensioners' Association of the Great War.

The defendants named in the action are Sam O. Craig, E. Lister, F. E. Beaven, Malcolm C. McPhail, F. Rutherford and E. Jamieson, who are sued on their own behalf and on behalf of all other members of the local branch of the Pensioners' body.

The plaintiff, who has been prominent among returned soldiers in the community for years, seeks a declaration that his expulsion by the defendants as a member of the association is void and that he is still a member, and asks for an injunction restraining the defendants from excluding him from the meetings of the branch, or preventing him from exercising the rights and privileges of membership therein.

MINES DIRECTOR APPEALS FROM JAIL SENTENCE

TORONTO, June 28—Harry E. Harcourt, Toronto, was sentenced to fifteen months imprisonment and a year underremitable in the reformatory at Guelph, by Judge O'Connor, today. Harcourt was convicted on June 26 on charges of unlawfully publishing or publishing false statements in connection with the sale of stock in the Jackson-Manion Mines. Immediately after sentence was pronounced an appeal against the conviction was filed in Osgoode Hall, on grounds that there had been a miscarriage of justice, there no evidence had proved the statement complained of to be false to the accused's knowledge or belief. Justice Orde granted bail to Harcourt pending the hearing of his appeal. Bail was fixed at $25,000 personal surety and two or more sureties aggregating $25,000.

ELECTRICAL PEOPLE ARE GREETED HERE

Last Day of Gathering of Northwest Electric Light and Power Association Convention Spent Here

THREE ARRIVE BY AEROPLANE

It is not often that the numbers of a convention exceed the expectations, but instead of 450 attending the Northwest Electric Light & Power Association meeting and excursion here yesterday, actually 642 sat down at the luncheon, necessitating much hasty preparation to accommodate the greatly increased delegation. The organization came here as part of its 8-day meeting, and was welcomed by Mr. A. T. Goward, vice-president, and Mr. R. J. Hall, manager of the light and power department of the B.C. Electric Railway.

Mayor Anscomb gave the city welcome, in the course of which he said that there was great development in the hydro-electric production of British Columbia. He observed in part:

"The public utility corporations of today are giving the most efficient and economical service it is possible to give and those responsible for the administration and management of these large corporations, although naturally desire their utmost to obtain a return on the capital invested, never overlook the requirements of the public, and know that their success will be more solid, and all the more gratifying when built on the good will of the public."

The period here was divided between sightseeing and golf, the party returning by the Princess Patricia, the special steamer engaged for the day.

Three of the delegates, Mr. Roy Ormond, pilot for the Line Material Company, of Milwaukee; Mr. E. P. Larson, Northwest sales representative for the same company, and Miss Audrey McCinty, of Portland, came over by plane in the morning, the plane making a landing at the Jubilee flying field about 11 25 a.m.

VICTORIA SITTINGS

Paulin (Appellant) vs. La Joie (Respondent)—Appellant carried on business as hotel proprietor in Vancouver. He claimed a sum of money from respondent, his employee, on room rent and money loaned. In support of appellant's claim copies of his ledger account were produced. It was stated that copies were made by the accountant who kept the books, and were inserted in the ledger. It was contended that they were the original ledger pages. Respondent objected to the copies being used as evidence, as no notice had been given under Section 46 of the Evidence Act. The examination for discovery disclosed that the original were in existence. At the trial it was submitted that the originals were lost. Appellant stated that a specific amount was due to him. The trial judge stated that appellant could not remember any items of the account, and had failed to make out a case. The original ledger sheets upon which the claim was issued had either been lost or destroyed, and were not produced. The action was dismissed.

The Court of Appeal dismissed the appeal.

Mr. Justice Gregory Delivers Finding in Darnell et Al. vs. B.C. Electric Company Suit

Mr. Justice Gregory, at the conclusion of the two-day trial in the Supreme Court here yesterday of Darnell et al vs. the British Columbia Electric Railway, found H. B. Darnell, one of the plaintiffs, and the motorman in charge of the B.C. Electric street car, equally guilty of negligence in the accident which occurred between the automobile Darnell was driving and the street car on January 11, 1928, on Fort Street, near Moss Street.

His Lordship directed the counsel for the plaintiffs and defendants, respectively to submit written argument to him upon the question of damages.

The plaintiffs in the action were H. B. Darnell, retired, and his wife, Eva G. Darnell, of 1092 Newport Avenue, and T. L. Swann, engineer, and his wife, Edith Swann and Marion Swann, a nurse, all residing at 1065 Moss Street. They claimed they were riding in an automobile driven by Darnell and were proceeding west on Fort Street when the auto was struck by a street car, resulting in the motor car being badly smashed, and each of the occupants of the vehicle receiving personal injury or suffering damage.

Darnell sued for $724.50 damages, Edith Swann and Marion Swann both asked general damages, and T. L. Swann claimed $183.90 against the defendant company.

Mr. Alfred Bull of Vancouver, was counsel for the plaintiffs, and Mr. Harold B. Robertson, K.C., of Vancouver, and Mr. H. G. Helgerman appeared for the B.C. Electric Company.

CANADA AND NAVAL DEFENCE

Among the responsible men of Canada, and chiefly those who are able to judge the future by the lessons of history, the idea has always persisted that this country does altogether too little in the way of preparations for national defence. Because some of our politicians are now the protagonist of pacifism the probability exists that for the time being and until there are new "alarms and excursions," less even than in the past will be done to insure national safety. Fortunately, however, there is a sound and substantial substratum of thought which believes in the doctrine of self-respect. That doctrine was voiced recently by Sir Patrick Williams-Taylor in an address at the annual dinner of the Navy League of Canada. He said: "If we trade upon the seas we must be prepared to shoulder our due share of responsibility for the safety of our ocean commerce, and this can only be done by taking an adequate part in naval defence."

Canada has never taken an adequate part in naval defence. The responsibility has frequently been admitted, but always shirked, simply because politicians could not agree. It is harder to win ever for politicians to come together on a subject of this kind when a wave of propaganda is sweeping the world against armaments of any sort. This propaganda seeks, among other things, to drown the realization that the British Navy is the best guarantee of peace within the Empire, and that it should be the proud privilege of each component part of that Empire to strengthen that naval guarantee by fleet units of its own. This is something that Australia understands and has put into practice, and Australia extended the aegis of her naval defence to Canada during the course of the late war.

Canada is handicapped in thinking in terms of national defence. Her prosperity depends on sea-borne trade, but millions of her dwellers are too removed from the ocean highways to have any real appreciation of the matter in which trade follows the flag. Now, as always since Canada was, it is the British Navy that keeps the ocean highways open for the trade of this country. We have no warships of our own for patrolling those highways, and wherein we have any voice at all in discussions on naval subjects it is by grace of the protection which we owe to the White Ensign. Only a portion of our people think sufficiently along such lines; too many of them are too preoccupied otherwise. Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor has done a service to his country in voicing a thought which should dwell in every mind with the intention that it should ultimately be translated into action. Canada should shoulder her due share of responsibility for the safety of her ocean commerce.

CARNATIONS

The ancient Greeks of 2,000 years ago never dreamed that the small five-petaled salmon-colored carnation which grew along the northern shore of the Mediterranean Sea would one day become the second most commercial flower in the world. Indeed the flower seems to have become lost to recorded history for a considerable period during the early centuries of the Christian era, but that it was appreciated for its delicate spicy fragrance and cultivated by the gardeners of the time is evidenced by the fact that at the beginning of the sixteenth century there existed many forms in Italy, France, Germany and England. Winter forcing of flowers being unknown at that time, the carnation remained a semi-hardy Spring and Summer blooming plant, and not until about the year 1840 do we have record of a Winter flower form which was secured by a French gardener named Dalamais. From this other varieties were developed by a number of European growers until the year 1854, when it was introduced to the American continent, and by which time the Winter flowering habit had been permanently fixed. In fact, the carnation of today is a modern product, developed under present-day conditions.

The type has undergone some changes and has been greatly improved since its introduction to this continent. The American growers, among whom Dalledouze, Zeller and Gard were the most prominent, took up the improvement of the French variety and soon developed seedlings of superior quality. Others later joined in the work, and the standard of quality was so raised that the carnation of today bears only a general resemblance to that brought over from France. More than 300 growers have participated in this work and over 1,400 varieties are now listed in the American Carnation Society's register. Carnations of four inch diameter are now common, and the growth has been so changed that there is less grass and every shoot goes right up to the flower instead of making a large bushy plant which yielded a bumper crop in early Spring. Crops can now be regulated when the market needs the flower, the calyx has been improved out of all knowledge, and the prevalence of splitting and the desire for mending them are now a thing of the past. In olden time propagating was done early in the Spring months, because that left ample time to grow a plant of good size for benching in September, which was early enough to ensure strong growth for the Spring crop of blooms. Modern growers start propagating in November because they desire strong plants to bench early in July, which will permit cutting good blooms on long stems by September.

The carnation, without doubt, runs the rose very closely in popularity. A white carnation is a misnomer, for the word "carnation" means flesh-colored, and is the same word really as "incarnation"—that is to say the mystery attendant on the Saviour's birth. To be a true carnation (grammatically), therefore, the blossom should be flesh-colored. So ravishing are their scent and beauty that few lovers of flowers will be found who will carve a mere name when the reality is so seductive and alluring.

PASSING OF THE COLLEGIATE

An educational landmark in this community is gone with the closing of the Collegiate School on Rockland Avenue, after a career which extended over sixty-eight years. It had the proud privilege of being the oldest boys school in British Columbia, and the second oldest school of any character, for it only gave right of way to St. Ann's one of the city's most flourishing educational institutions. Its founder was the late Bishop Hills, the first Bishop of Columbia, and originally was in the nature of a church school with clergymen as its teachers, during almost forty years of its existence. Needless to say in those days Scripture was one of the most important subjects taught, and, as a consequence some excellent character-development work was done. Many noted old-timers were among the students, some whose names stand out in the history of the province, and they owed a great deal to the character of the training they received while at the College.

The school had a number of different homes until finding its final resting place on Rockland Avenue seventeen years ago, when Mr. A. D. Muskett took charge. Its passing is a reminder of a precedent-breaking achievement. It has had, it has played a noble part in educational development in this community, and there are many still living who are proud to refer to it as their alma mater. Educational life is a process of change. Schools come and go, and, fortunately, there are those to take the Collegiate, which leave memories that are uplifting and expanding because of the influence for good for which they have been responsible.

FILMS IN THE SCHOOLS

The value of motion pictures as an adjunct to education may be easily exaggerated. They will provide relief from more monotonous studies, it is true, but that the film should be in any sense a people's university to cover art, music, song, scientific discoveries and their use, recreation, amusement, great stories from literature, drama and historical and human geography, botany and allied subjects, is unlikely. The film up to date has been both educational and recreative. It has its limitations, and definite ones, and its advantages and so far the latter have been those to be exploited. The number of subjects for educational purposes with which the film can deal is limited.

Personal contact in studies is the strongest incentive to mental development. The talking film, cannot take the place of the living teacher. The London Times says that the personal touch is worth innumbered feet of the most exquisitely produced film. "If," says that newspaper, "in all school education the human voice and the map and the blackboard were to be replaced by the mechanical 'talkie' and the screen, it would inevitably follow that the children would to some extent be robbed of the proper exercise of their imaginative faculty, and that the knowledge acquired by an easy process of looking and listening instead of by hard work would soon be forgotten."

WORLD'S TINIEST NEWSPAPER

A firm in Liverpool having business relations with many out-of-the-way parts of the world is in the possession a copy of what is claimed to be the smallest newspaper in the world.

The Torres Strait Daily Pilot" is a single-page paper, only 11 inches by 8 inches, and is published and printed by Mr. A. Corran, a Liverpool man, who is Mayor of Thursday Island, and is the smallest of the Prince of Wales group in the Torres Straits, politically attached to Queensland, Australia.

Glancing through The Torres Straits Daily Pilot, it takes but a few minutes to conjure up a picture of what life away from civilisation is as now it must really be like.

One looks at the first column—shipping news, which is the most important feature of Thursday Island. Ships do call at Thursday Island—but only when one can see the members of the colony hailing a vessel with joy as a ship from the outer world.

The next specimen of news is a column and a half of Resler summary of outstanding world news, and an interesting fact emerges: Thursday Island, as an advertisement shows, but as one might guess, possesses the inevitable picture house, and also a town band.

Inquiries in Liverpool elicited some detailed information about this city news sheet. Mr. Corran is editor, printer and publisher. He has been on the island for thirty-three years, and started The Pilot before the war as a weekly, but when she was begun the paper came out as a daily, and has remained daily ever since. The charge for the paper is one shilling a week to subscribers and sixpence a single copy to nonsubscribers.

Note and Comment

By R. A. D.

British Columbia is not keeping pace with the rushing motor procession, although we have seen individual motor cars in British Columbia which have been promoted before the court and fined for driving too slowly. The bigoted loiterer was being asked, along at the rate of ten miles an hour, and some dashing Jehu charged him with obstructing traffic and damaging his nerves. Another drowsing and dreaming motor car driver in the Province of Alberta was charged with a similar offence. We do not know what the judge did to him; but surmise that he, too, was fined and warned to be more spry in the future, for it is a serious thing to obstruct business in this fast and furious age.

The average rate of speed of a modern motor car is about equal to the average rate of speed of an express train. That is the standard rate of speed for the present, but we doubt whether that rate of speed will be permanently satisfactory, for correspondence have been writing to the newspapers demanding that the legal rate of speed shall be increased. One writer in the Province of Alberta has suggested that the rate shall be raised to at least thirty-five miles an hour. He says all cars are capable of a much higher rate of speed than that, that the province is a land of great distances and vast spaces, that time is an equivalent of money, therefore why should the greater power built into cars be wasted.

So we expect that before we are done with this matter, the standard of speed for motor cars will be raised about equal to the standard rate of speed for airplanes, and that the motorists will demand that the beaten ways upon highways will be a matter of little consequence, or of no consequence whatever, as Mr. Toots used to stammer. There is no minimum rate of speed for cars in British Columbia as yet, but some enterprising will be, for we are an enterprising people and cannot afford to lag in the rear of the motor procession.

We should not be surprised if the brake-testing proceedings now being carried on on our streets is but a prelude to "stepping upon the gas and letting her rip." If that is the portent of this purely voluntary proceeding, we know what is going to happen to us and to the motor car. We shall no longer be permitted to enjoy something we enjoyed tremendously one week and benign Sunday evening a day or two ago—a motor trip around the city and its environs at a rate of speed which did not exceed ten miles an hour, for that is the rate from which the greatest amount of enjoyment can be derived. What will happen to the motor car? The motor car will become a vehicle of business exclusively, and the business upon which the motor car will be engaged must be conducted occasionally at the minimum rate of speed, always at the maximum rate of speed.

Another cherished British possession we are going to lose as a result of the testing of the motor car and the inclination to speed it up to the ultimate devastating limit is the Sunday afternoon "family drive" beloved for centuries and known as indirectly injurious. We have always had policemen, even although this is a free country, but the policeman never interfered with persons or his authority upon us as long as we attended strictly to our own business and our own business consisted simply in the business of other people. There was only one exception to this rule, and that was Joe. The policeman was always telling Joe "to move on." But then Joe was merely a mythical person and his case did not make a precedent.

The policeman has taken his place upon the streets today, and is always arrogantly motioning motor car drivers to "move on," when he is not quite so arrogantly signalling them to stop. Many of the motor car drivers cannot move on fast enough to satisfy the lust for speed which has taken possession of the policeman. When the motor car becomes what these persons are trying to make it, there will be policemen upon the country roads as well as upon the city streets either urging the motor car drivers to speed up or to slow down, and summoning them and having them fined for doing both.

This may be a somewhat fantastic aspect of the pending situation, but it is a picture of the pending situation as it looms up before our eyes. The true pleasure of motoring are therefore or are about to be, the established minimum rate of speed of driving is going to be fixed at thirty-five miles an hour as such a rate of speed you might just as well be driving through a barren land as through the most charming country in the whole world, for you would be "taking your own life in your hands" or endangering the lives of other people if for a moment you took your eyes off the steering wheel or the road ahead. What pleasure or profit would there be in driving under such conditions?

RAILWAY HEAD IMPRESSED BY CITY'S GROWTH

Mr. William R Kenan, Jr., Head of Tagler System in Florida, Pays Brief Visit to Victoria

IS BREEDER OF PRIZE JERSEYS

The attractiveness of Victoria from a scenic standpoint, and the value which the management of the Empress Hotel will be to tourist movement were strongly yesterday expressed by Mr. William R. Kenan, Jr., president of the Tagler System of Flagler system, operating railways and hotels in Florida.

Mr. Kenan was here for two days, during which he was accompanied by Mrs. Kenan, his sisters, Mrs. J. K. Wise and Mrs. Sarah Graham Kenan, and his secretary, Mr. Warren Smith.

They saw an extensive tour in the United States and Canada, visiting the principal cities reached by the railway journeys.

Mr. Kenan told The Colonist that his engagements prevented a longer visit, but he was particularly interested in the steps being taken in British Columbia to cater to tourist travel, because the Florida lines were closely associated with the prosperity with movement of people from long distances.

He spoke enthusiastically of the scenery in the Rocky Mountains, which he had recently visited.

Mr. Kenan is an ardent rockman, and has his home near Lakewood, N.Y., a internationally known. His Jersey herd has scored some excellent records. This is his first visit to Victoria, but he said he had proceeded on board the Seattle steamer to make South announcing that the journey home would be through the Yellowstone Park.

MOTOR CAR BRAKES

Sir—Having read Lieut.-Col. O. R. Hodgin's (of Colwood, B.C.), article in your issue of Wednesday, June 26, under the above heading, I sincerely hope that some of the residents and taxpayers of the city of Victoria will express their disapproval of the terms in which he refers to those responsible for the traffic laws, referring to them as "the dos at 'Jacks in Office.'"

I am not a taxpayer of Victoria but of the Municipality of Oak Bay. Today I voluntarily surrendered to having my brakes tested and do not feel that in so doing I ranked myself in the criminal class. It is gratifying for me to know my brakes are in O.K. condition, and in case of an emergency will be the medium of preventing what otherwise might result in serious injury to persons and property.

Lieutenant-Colonel Hodgins states in his article, "everyone knows that the parking law is a farce and cannot be carried out." He is wrong. It is being carried out, and I, for one, do not consider it a farce.

What testing of brakes has to do with departed decency I fail to see, or what there is illegal in the act of those in authority, acting on a campaign having as its sole object the making of further safety on our streets, for the protection of motorists and pedestrians alike.

Why, therefore, should the city of Victoria be a place to be avoided?

FIRST TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHT

Sir—Sir Charles Wakefield's letter, "The First Transatlantic Flight," in today's Colonist, is a worthy attempt to do justice to Captain Alcock, who were the first to achieve a nonstop flight from America to Europe ten years ago. Nothing can take from them their laurels, their names are inscribed on the roll of fame and eight years passed before Lindbergh swayed the flight and improved on it.

But—though nothing can diminish the glory of Alcock and Brown, and I should be the last to wish to do so—historical accuracy compels me to point out that, by omitting the two little words "non-stop" from his letter, Sir Charles Wakefield strays from the truth! Alcock and Brown were the first to make a nonstop flight across the Atlantic, they were not the first to actually fly it. Lieutenant Read, U.S.N. was the pioneer, assisted by several companions and over a score of warships of the United States Navy, plus the several thousand men making up their complements.

To epitomize: Read left Trepassy Bay, New Foundland, in a seaplane on May 16, 1919, with two similar planes heading for Lisbon, via the Azores. To simplify navigation, and to reduce the chances of failure, he foresaw as likely to be required, a considerable portion of the American Navy was strung out clear across the Atlantic, from Newfoundland to Portugal. To be exact, there was one ship every sixty miles. Obviously Read could not very easily lose his way. He did not, however, lose his ship, unless there was for. As a matter of fact, he did run into fog, and the navigation outlapped Lisbon, and he lost himself. Fortunately the fog lifted, and he came from. The other two planes never arrived at all.

To attempt to compare Read's flight with that of Alcock and Brown is, of course, really impossible. He had such an array of organized help that non-arrival would have been much surprising that nascual. In spite of the too lack eleven days to do what Alcock and Brown did in sixteen hours, with no help whatever. In fact, Read is creating no more in the nature of a joke than anything, and it was so regarded in European aeronautical circles. It proved nothing, and demonstrated nothing—except the defective character of the plates used, and the lengths the United States Navy was prepared to go to "show the world" that they really had some planes that could do something. No other nation thought an Atlantic flight under such conditions worth the time and money involved.

Nevertheless, though I do not want to be pedantic, the credit for the first transatlantic flight must go to our cousins to the south. Such as it was, they are welcome to it!

Saskatchewan Farmers' Wives Take Up Peace

BASKATOON, June 28.—With universal peace as its aim, and with the purpose of discussing how best to effectively maintain peace, the All-Day Peace Conference initiated by the women's section of the United Farmers of Canada, and under the auspices of the Saskatchewan Peace Committee, held its first session this morning.

WEAR A ROSE TODAY

All garlanded with roses, red
The pathway to the sun is spread.
For those, who think of others' need,
For feet, that go to help with speed.
For lips, that smile, when hope hath fled.

And for kind hearts, with love imbred,
And for the hands, that kindness shed,
Their ways—to Happiness — proceed.
All garlanded with roses, red:

In tribute to the fallen dead;
In true remembrance, be it said:
We wear a rose today. Hallow
Our hearts, in loving, now, exceed.

Jots From Literature

THOMAS Hardy, the celebrated English author, who was buried in Westminster Abbey upon his death in 1928, studied to be an architect in his early years. He was trained at King's College and when twenty-seven years old began to write. He very soon gained public favor, and held it during his entire lifetime. In 1901 he published "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," upon which probably rests his greatest claim to enduring fame. Though fiction of his characters are tragic and cruel, critics claim they will live in literature by virtue of that sternness.

THIS UNFALTERING RELIEF

This unfaltering relief
Of still hoping on,
Hope blighted yesterday .
New hopes bud with dawn!
Always rainbow promise bright
Leads to faith its lovely light.

Pitiful sometimes it seems
How men turn aside
From the memories of their dreams
When those dreams have died.
But they straightway build anew
More
Castles nobler than before

Dearer far than any grief,
Stronger than defeat,
This unfaltering belief
That life's core is sweet,
This unswerving, gallant trust,
That the Plan is wholly just.

"We all know that British Columbia lands the world in timber industry, but here are some facts that very few people appreciate. The lumber industry embraces many branches—logging, sawing, shingle mills, box mills, sash mills, shingle mills and lumber dealers. Over 15,000 people are employed in the lumber business in British Columbia. Their payroll exceeds $18,500,000. It is a notable industry, but even so it can be increased if we modify British Columbia made wood products."

Plaintiffs also asked for a declaration of ownership of the property, and an accounting of all sums received from the quarrying and sale of the stone for many years back.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Herbert A. Rudge, Walter P. Rudge, Harry Rudge, Frederick Rudge, Jennie Stannard, Nellie Barlow, Hattie Reaven, Elizabeth Wright, Spencer Huson, and the estates of the following deceased persons: Henry Rudge, Samuel Gray and Wesley Huson. POTENTATE OF MYSTIC SHRINE WELCOMED HERE

Imperial Potentate Leo V. Youngworth and Party Are Guests of Gizeh Temple at Empress Hotel

SHRINE HOSPITALS RELIEVES CRIPPLES

Members of the Gizeh Temple of the Mystic Shrine were hosts to the newly elected Imperial Potentate, Leo V. Youngworth, and party, who arrived from the Los Angeles convention of the Shrine yesterday afternoon.

At a formal dinner attended by officers of the Gizeh Temple and the visitors in the private dining-room of the Empress Hotel last night, Mr. Walter Lumey, Illustrious Potentate of the Victoria temple, was presented with an illuminated certificate of honorary membership in the Alhedr Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S., Oasis of Portland, Desert of Oregon. The presentation was preceded by a most unique Shrine ceremony.

At the reception which was held in the ballroom following the dinner the Imperial Potentate addressed those present, thanking the members of the Gizeh Temple for the hospitality shown him and his party. "I shall go away with a high and very definite recollection of your beautiful city," he stated, when alluding to the drive he had been taken on during the afternoon.

He spoke of his membership in the Shrine for thirty-five years and the work that was undertaken by the order to relieve and cure crippled children.

CHILDREN CURED

"We have undertaken a great work. The Shrine now has fifteen hospitals throughout the jurisdiction of the North American continent... In our work of relieving the distressed we have sent from those hospitals 30,000 children cured of their helplessness. Thirty thousand crippled children have been cured at those institutions.

"The work becomes more important than ever as time passes. You must realize the magnitude of the undertaking and the work that we have yet to accomplish. Let us pass the great work on to our successors with the same spirit, the same idea and the same enthusiasm that it was passed down to us. Don't forget that we have a task and are doing it well. Let us hold the ship and keep her sailing on a straight course, so that we may make the distress of crippled children a solved problem on this continent," he concluded.

After his speech Potentate Lumey introduced Potentate Caldwell, of Seattle, Potentate Swindle, of Tacoma, and Potentate Munzinger, of Portland, to the gathering.

The evening was concluded with dancing, the Gizeh Temple band providing the music.

Mr. Youngworth and party were welcomed on their arrival here from Seattle yesterday afternoon by Most Illustrious Potentate Mr. Walter Lumey and Mrs. Lumey, Past Illustrious Potentate Mr. James Hudson, Recorder Mr. E. Leason, Noble E. C. Hayward, Noble Handler and Noble Macfarlane.

Those of the Imperial Potentate's party are: Mrs. Youngworth, Imperial Recorder Price, of Richmond, Va.; Most Illustrious Potentate Munzinger, of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Munzinger; Most Illustrious Potentate Swindle, of Tacoma, and Mrs. Swindle, and Noble Waugh, of San Francisco, who is traffic manager of the Imperial Potentate's party.

During the afternoon the Imperial Potentate and party were taken to the new Shrine Temple now under construction, and later to "Benvenuto" to see Mr. R. P. Butchart's sunken gardens.

The visit of Mr. Youngworth here is the first to Canada since his election as head of the American Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. He was elected Imperial Potentate at the convention recently held in Los Angeles.

WEST APPEALS TO EAST, SAYS MR. SHELLY

Minister of Finance, on His Way Home, Tells of Interest Found Manifested in Western Provinces

WAS IMPRESSED WITH ACTIVITY

WINNIPEG, June 28.—"The eyes of Eastern Canada are centred upon the West," said Hon. W. C. Shelly, Minister of Finance for British Columbia, in an interview here Friday.

Mr. Shelly, with his wife, arrived in Winnipeg on the Canadian Pacific Transcanada en route to Vancouver, after a trip to the Eastern provinces. He is staying over here for a few days.

"It is realized in the East now," he continued, "that the West, with its mining and oil resources, agricultural wealth and development of transportation is assured of a marvellous future."

Mr. Shelly was enthusiastic over the general industrial activity apparent in the older portions of Canada. But hastily amended: "Nevertheless, the West for me. The relative positions of East and West today are very similar to those of a father and son with the latter keeping pace until his coming of age, when he's ahead."

WILL WELCOME MAYOR J. MERRITT

Adjutant and Mrs. Merritt and the city Salvationists cordially invite any friends who would like to spend Dominion Day with them at Sooke Beach, where the annual corps picnic will be held. A good programme has been arranged for the enjoyment of those of all ages who attend. Hot water will be provided. Transportation will be arranged for those not using their own cars, but tickets should be purchased or reservations made no later than tonight, if possible, at the citadel. This includes those who are not attendants of the Army Sunday school. Trucks will leave the citadel on Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock, returning to the city by 9 p.m.

North End Club Excursion—Another proof of the popularity of Victoria among Seattle excursionists is shown in the large number who patronized the North End Phone Club last Sunday yesterday. They spent the day viewing the attractions of the locality, and specially studying the flowers. Plants of peculiar interest were pointed out to them by experienced garden guides. Special attention was given to the famous Benvenuto Gardens, which formed the central object of the excursion.

ST. MICHAEL'S PRIZES GIVEN

School's Nineteenth Annual Gathering Held Yesterday at 935 Foul Bay Road

CROWS WIN CUP FOR BEST PATROL

St. Michael's School nineteenth annual prize-giving took place yesterday afternoon in the gardens of Mr. C. E. Merritt, 935 Foul Bay Road, in the presence of a large and interested audience of parents and other friends of the school. The boys received their awards amidst much applause and the climax of enthusiasm found expression in the concluding volley of cheers for the Dean of Columbia, who presented the prizes, Mr. C. E. Merritt, the masters, fathers and mothers, and the headmaster, Mr. Kyrie Symons.

The programme opened with the customary drill display directed by C. E. Lee, school drill instructor, with R. E. N. Yerburgh, and Kyrie Symons, Jr. The movements were smartly carried out, the boys presenting a very neat appearance in their white uniforms.

Also the school the prize-giving took place. In connection with this the headmaster announced the prizes, expressing thanks to all those who had stood by the school during the year and shown their interest in it, also expressed his thanks to the donors and to all who had contributed to the proceedings of the day.

The Dean's address followed the presentation of the prizes. He expressed his pleasure in finding Mr. Symons in a again much benefited by his holiday. Addressing the parents he stressed the importance of remembering that a boy's education did not cease with his school life. Neither must they regard education simply as something with a commercial value. It could not be gained that education undoubtedly brewed a man to live even where it did not always help him to earn a living. Fortunately the two elements were being more recognized, and numbers of university men were to be found making their way successfully in business careers.

With the Dean and headmaster at the prize-giving table were the other masters of the school Mr. L. O. Tolson, Mr. W. R. Wilkinson, Mr. C. E. Lee, Mr. R. E. N. Yerburgh and Mr. Kyrie W. Symons.

SIGN BY-LAW IS EXPLAINED

City Solicitor H. S. Pringle Tells Council Amendment Is Intended to Building Legislation

The proposed amendment to the building by-law in respect to signs, signboards and hoardings was explained to members of the Real Estate Board of Victoria at their meeting yesterday in Spencer's private dining-room by City Solicitor H. S. Pringle.

Mr Pringle said the amendment would require every contractor, owner or other person proposing to erect any sign, signboard, hoarding or other erection of a similar kind before commencing the erection thereof to obtain from the building inspector a permit and to pay for the permit the sum of $1. The City Council wished to exempt small real estate signs up to a certain size to be determined and desired the opinion of the Real Estate Board on this matter. The speaker stated that in Oak Bay municipality all signs are prohibited with the exception of small signs about eighteen inches by twelve inches in common use by real estate agents.

PROPOSED REGULATIONS

The proposed amendment to the building by-law would affect only those signs that would be erected after the passing of the amendment, Mr. Pringle pointed out. He made it clear that the intention of the zoning by-law is to prohibit the erection of signs in areas of two square feet in area in single-family dwelling, family dwelling and apartment districts, while the proposed building by-law amendment would require the obtaining of a permit and the payment of the fee in the erection of large signs in all other districts.

Members of the board expressed various views on the question of the size of the signs to be exempted from the suggested legislation, and decided to leave the matter to the executive, with power to act.

WILD FLOWERS PROTECTION

Secretary Mrs. Lethbridge reported that letters had been sent out to service clubs and other organizations, enlisting their support in the Board's move for legislation to protect the beauty and interest of the country by the preservation of its wild flowers.

President Stewart O. Clark spoke of the successful trip the reader made to the Belvedere Hotel at Sooke early this month, and expressed thanks to all who had contributed towards making the outing so enjoyable. A committee was named to arrange plans for a return visit to Sooke.

CABINET PUTS COMMISSIONER IN AUTHORITY

Temporary Arrangement Made With Regard to University Area Lands

IS COROLLARY TO INTERIM REPORT

Mr. A. N. Daykin, commissioner investigating the university lands at Point Grey, will be charged with the administration of the land work in progress there, pending the final report from him being forthcoming. He will, if he deems it necessary, in the interests of economy, make reductions in the number employed there.

With the dismissal of Mr. R. L. McPherson, who was in charge of the work it becomes necessary to have someone take over the administration. This has been settled upon by naming Mr. Daykin. The investigation, as far as the interim report shows, apparently indicates the need of reorganization of the system which has been in vogue in connection with Government work.

What will be done ultimately with the Government land will depend largely on Mr. Daykin's final report. While his interim report found that there had been grave irregularities in the administration of the area through the use of Government funds to develop private areas, another important side of the whole question has yet to be investigated. This is the cost of developing the subdivision land and the revenue secured from them or likely to be obtained in the future.

PARTLY PAYING

Starting the inquiry, the Government believed that the area was barely paying its way, and that if it proved to be not profitable in the future it might never contribute to the upkeep of the university, as originally planned. What Mr. Daykin finds on this point is awaited with eagerness by the Cabinet. If, as the Government expects, the scheme is not profitable, and entirely new policy in handling it in the future may be necessary, no further development may be balked for the present at least. Until more facts are discovered the business of the subdivision will be carried on as usual under Mr. Daykin.

TO RECOVER MONEY

Beyond the dismissal of Major McPherson, and the appointment of Mr. Daykin as officer in charge of the subdivision, the Government contemplates no immediate steps. As Mr. Daykin's investigation is not nearly finished yet, all the affairs of the subdivision in a sense are sub-judice and ministers decline to comment on them or on possible action to straighten them out. It was learned, however, that the Government has good hope of ascertaining the whereabouts of the money which Mr. Daykin finds was misapplied on private lands. It is planned to recover every cent possible.

Vast Merger of Food Concerns Is In Prospect

TORONTO, June 28.—In an article in the financial pages today, The Mail and Empire says:

"More than mere gossip is apparently behind a suggestion emanating from New York that a linking up of the large food merchandising companies throughout the United States and Canada would be a desirable move.

"The suggestion is made for a preliminary consolidation of six chains in three divisions—Atlantic Chain Stores and Kroger Grocery and Baking Corporations ranging in the Western United States division; Safeway Stores, Ltd., and Loblaw Groceterias, Inc. (American company) as an Eastern unit, and Dominion Stores, Ltd., and Loblaw Groceterias, Ltd., forming the Canadian unit. This move would place the three divisions in line for one great consolidation, operating more than 2,800 retail stores, having a combined gross total sales of nearly a billion dollars and with assets of $125,000,000.

POLITICAL ISSUES OF DISARMAMENT MAY BE DISCUSSED

WASHINGTON, June 28—Washington plans for the conference to help lift the burden of naval armament from the world daily takes clearer form. It is now suggested a conference of five nations—Great Britain, the United States, Japan, France and Italy—may be held in London this Summer for the purpose of reaching an agreement upon the political questions concerned in naval reduction. At such a conference statesmen would consider what the scope of reduction should be, possibly what matters of naval arms would be affected, such as battleships, aircraft carriers, submarines, destroyers and cruisers, or simply whether those craft as essential, which proved the controversial issue in the failure of the Geneva tripartite conference of 1927.

Two spinsters of uncertain age were exchanging confidences. One said:

Acidity and Rheumatism

Team mates travelling together—uric acid and rheumatism. Where there is rheumatism, there is likely uric acid biting the kidneys; uric acid inflaming the nerves; uric acid swelling hands and feet. Where there is this excess of uric acid in the system, there is a very immediate need of ABBEY'S to neutralize this poison—and give relief.

For sparkling ABBEY'S takes the "bite" out of uric acid, and keeps the blood and nerve centers free of its irritating action.

For many years the use of salines such as ABBEY'S has been an important part of the treatment for rheumatism.

Because of its uniform quality, the care in its preparation and the intrinsic value of its formula, ABBEY'S is regularly prescribed in those cases where pain or sickness is due to an excess of uric acid in the system. 44

The Treasure House of Martin Hews

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

CHAPTER XXII.

"Have you had any trouble with Minchin, sir?" I asked.

"Yes," he acknowledged reluctantly. "He wants to buy a cottage beyond Southend and go there for week-ends. He wants to leave me for two days a week."

"Well, why not?" I questioned. "He could train another valet, couldn't he, sir, to take his place?"

Martin Hews looked at me as though I had spoken sacrilege. The thunder muttered again, this time more distantly.

"That's further away," he exclaimed. "It's going. Look out of the window, Owston. Tell me which way the clouds are moving?"

"The storm is over," I reported. "The clouds are all passing southwards, and the rain has eased."

He was a different man when I turned back into the room.

"I've had a bad time, Owston," he confessed. "It is past. Is there news?"

"None of Miss Easter. I am sorry to say," I told him, "and bad news of Rachel."

He indulged in a little grimace.

"Do you mean that my scheme failed?"

"Utterly. I found her half-conscious in my rooms last night, with her hair all cut off. She has had strength to murmur Number 16 Bloxham Street before she was taken to the hospital. Number 16 Bloxham Street was raided in a quarter of an hour, and the house was blown up by an infernal machine directly the police got inside."

"That was Joseph!" he gasped.

"Joseph beyond a doubt," I answered. "He had been there. So, I believe, had your niece."

"What's the next move, Major?"

"Scotland Yard has got the gang pretty well surrounded, sir," I told him. "They are going for them at once—perhaps tonight. That's why Joseph didn't mind so much his East End hiding places being given away. Inspector Hoop's been working cautiously, but street by street, house by house almost, he's got them where he wants them. They will all centered down there, and Joseph knows it."

Martin Hews eyes glistened with hate.

"If I were a man like others," he muttered, "I'd make myself like one of those accursed wolves. I'd creep from street to street, from hiding place to hiding place. I'd box and steal and lie. I'd go to prison and come out again. I'd find Joseph."

One of the telephones on the desk tinkled gently. I observed Hews gesture, look up the receiver, and listen.

"Isaacs is speaking from Crafton Street—urgent, he says." I announced.

There was a sparkle in Martin Hews' hard, round eyes as he took the receiver from me. His expression, as he bent over the instrument, was almost ecstatic.

"Listen, Isaacs," he said, when he had heard all the other had to re count, "with this I have finished you can go back to your beloved Hungary, and you shall take your fortune with you. You succeeded this time, and you need make no further effort. I mean it. The time has come. Succeed, Isaacs, and you are rid of your burden."

There was excitement at the other end of the wire. I could tell that, though my employer's answers grew cooler all the time.

"In two hours," he announced, "Owston will be with you. He is just the man you want for this job. You will obey him. Don't hesitate. Tonight."

He leaned back in his chair, and I stared at him wonderingly.

"Owston," he declared, "for a few minutes the sternest things of life are to be forgotten. Come with me."

He wheeled his chair to a distant corner of the room and stopped against the wall. The panel rolled upward, disclosing a miniature safe let into the wall. With a key attached to a gold bracelet underneath his left cuff, he opened it and drew out another bunch of keys—three in number.

"Follow me," he directed.

The first key, with the help of an electric button, unlocked the door close to us. We passed into a corridor, dimly lit, because it was windowless. Then my guide opened another door, and we were in a gallery. He touched a knob in one of the panels, and lights flared out from ceiling and walls. I followed him farther into the room, and a sense of wonder kept me tongue-tied.

I had once visited what they had told me was the most wonderful bazaar in Cairo, where I had suddenly been confronted with the accumulated objects d'art of a great mercantile house, added to month by month from every quarter of the world. This treasure house of Martin Hews was reminiscent of that visit, but there was everywhere apparent a greater and finer sense of restraint, one could tell that as a most passionate love had gone to the arrangement of its sacred contents. I walked a little farther into the room. Martin Hews, in his chair moving noiselessly by my side, had no words, but it seemed to me that he approved my silence.

"Here you learn, if you have the wit to discern it, my young friend," he said, "the secret—the major secret—the passion of my life. Man is born either a hunter, a lover, or a treasure seeker. Perhaps fortunately for me," he added a little bitterly, "I was born among the latter. Forty years of care and toil, danger and perseverance, besides the expenditure of a great fortune, have brought me time. Every one has come to me with a thrill, every one has brought me the need of joy. What matter, I think, sometimes, if I die tomorrow? I shall have known happiness such as few people are capable of feeling, and, if I fear death, Owston—and there are times when I shrink from it—it is not because there is anything in life itself that calls or holds: it is the leaving these. The Madonna who smiles at you there, from whom day by day you could years a new moon of beauty, was painted in 1519 by Raphael. Ah, you recognize it perhaps. Yes, it was stolen, I admit. It was stolen first from Italy, in the time of the Revolution, and afterwards from the Pasis collector. Perhaps you recognize my two Cirecians that Claude Monet, the clever detective in London and Paris, searched for so vain. See the Golden Horn and Temple of Thoth. Look at that Buddha. Eleven men were killed in the attempt to regain that. The scroll in that basket of gold with the jade sides is part of the manuscript of Confucius, traced by his own hands. Look at the parchment. We lived in caves long after that was fashioned.

"What do you love best? Pictures, bronze, jade, tapestry? Tell me, and I'll show you something that the world cannot match. Pictures," he went on, interpreting my bewildered reply. "Good. Here is variety for you. You see that panel in yellow satinwood? Look at the images. The dairymaid is milk cotton, the fine lady in her dress, the gallant with dances with her. And this Cashborough? Forty-five thousand guineas they asked me for that at Christie's. I didn't buy it. Owston, it was Dentlin's masterpiece. Cut from the frame it was, so neatly so though he escaped. It hung here six weeks after they had refused my cheque at Christie's for forty thousand guineas.

"This is my Temple. This is the pool into which I have emptied my life and soul. Men have robbed or stolen, or killed for love or jealousy over it. For what do you see."

It is not too much to say that I was stricken with something like awe. I walked along the carpeted passage much as though I were wandering in some sanctuary. Actually I felt ashamed to have taken away that vision of a species of enthusiasm. Martin Hews glided silently to my side.

"Come," he enjoined. "Less than a dozen men before you in twelve years have crossed this threshold."

We passed out together. He locked the doors and replaced the keys. Silently he made his way back to his place before the desk and waved me to my chair.

"I will explain to you, Owston, why even an unemotional person like yourself feels as you do," he said. "You may walk through any gallery, any museum, any private collection in the world, and be pleased with the true and beautiful, you will find a leaven of self-satisfied pleasing and the counterfeit. Therefore your fancy has perhaps a little restled, but you remain normal. Today you have been in one of the great treasure houses of the world, Owston. Lovingly and carefully, I have slowly, selected, and sought, and, because a mistake is impossible to me my treasure house is a different treasure house of truth."

"You called it a treasure house of truth," I remarked, "yet half its contents are stolen."

"Three-quarters of them," he admitted calmly. "They were stolen because money could not buy them

That does not affect their nobility. Some of the greatest men in the world have always been amassed by rapine, fire, and massacre.

"But aren't you afraid of discovery?"

"I have no great fear," he assured me. "It will tell you why. Nearly all the thefts connected in these sordid days are thefts of an article for purposes of gain. That article must be resold before the robber may reap his reward. And it is the selling that the great danger of the proceeding arises. My treasures have been stolen for my solitary joy, for and for myself alone. The police of the world have searched for years for some of these. But they have searched in the bargain houses, they have searched in the dealers' shops of Amsterdam, London, Paris, New York. They have searched by watching a likely purchaser and a likely vendor—and they have searched in vain. When anything is stolen for me, it is off the market for my lifetime. Pull down the blind of your dormitory, Owston," he continued, a little abruptly. "What I have shown you, I have shown you on impulse. Now I shall give you something to distract your mind. Have you ever killed a Chinaman, Owston?"

"Never to my knowledge, sir."

"If by killing the Chinaman you are going to see tonight you could get possession of what I want," Martin Hews stifled, "the affair would be easy enough. Mr Tul-Kak is too clever for that, though. In a sense I am glad that he is. If I were were killing to be done, Joseph might be there instead of me. There is this difference between Joseph and myself. He pays when he must—that is very seldom indeed. If I want anything badly enough, I don't care whether it comes to me through commercial theft, or murder. In this case, it will have, I think, to be murder. Tul-Kak is a wise man. He wants a great price, but he prefers to deal with me. I have told Isaacs that he can offer five hundred thousand pounds—a quarter of my remaining fortune. Owston—for the 'One-Eyed Buddha.'

"For the what?" I gasped.

Martin Hews smiled patiently.

"You are very innocent, Owston," he deplored. "However, I suppose I must continue to be your instructor. From time immemorial there has been a superstition that the great Buddha, the God of the East, had only one eye (he had ten centuries, coincidentally with this superstition, one has heard vague rumors of a small white jade Buddha, watched in secret by the priests and only of a temple in Thibet—a Buddha with only one eye. Expeditions of curio dealers have lost their lives seeking for this temple, seeking for this Buddha. Now it came into India. I don't know, but it is certain that a monk of Thibet left his country and travelled across the mountains to China, with the Buddha in his possession. He gave it with his life. Four of the successors remain have died. Tul-Kak himself has had more than one harrowing the secret places of Bangoon, where it was reported that the statue had been hidden. He hasn't could make no progress. Tul-Kak has been a rear waiting for an opportunity to travel to London. He arrived this morning. Tonight, at 11 o'clock, you and Isacs are to see him in the Milan Court. From what I hear of the man, he is only too anxious to sell quickly. Whether he will get away with the money is another matter. You had better go to Isaacs' shop at about a quarter to eleven. You will go armed, of course, for I warn you that I don't believe that the Buddha will be allowed to change hands again without a fight."

"What are we to do with it when we have it?" I asked.

"Isaacs has instructions. He has a solid iron coffer in which you will place it, and for the night it will remain in the hotel safe. I am a believer in the obvious places at times. Don't try to hide it anywhere else. The vaults at the Milan Hotel I will communicate with the manager. Mr Bretzel, and he will be expecting you."

He sat for a few minutes in what seemed to be a state of trance. Then he rang the bell, and presently Minchin appeared.

"Be that Major Owston has some lunch, Minchin," he directed "and order a car to take him to the station."

It was not until after I had started London, and time in a first-class carriage, that I realized that I was in for a new adventure, and that I was carrying Martin Hews' cheque for half a million.

COLISEUM THEATRE Several cases filled with rare gems and specimens of exquisite workmanship were borrowed from a certain and exclusive jeweler in Hollywood by Columbia Pictures. They were used to dress sets in "Beware of Blondes," the feature showing for the last times today at the Coliseum Theatre. The value is estimated at half a million dollars. Armed guards were stationed around the set during the time the picture was being made.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE The boredom of idleness drove Shirley Temple, the screen's top-ranking actress, to the movies. She went from extra to leads in Westerns, and then Henry King sent her for "The Magic Flame." In "The Scarlet Dove," the Tiffany-Stahl feature now at the Playhouse Theatre, Shirley is one of those fair charmers who look lovely dancing in a banquet table.

DOMINION THEATRE Josephine Dunn, who shares with Betty Bronson the dual position of leading lady with Al Jolson in his new Warner Bros. super-talkie, "Singing Fool," now at The Dominion Theatre, though still a young girl, was a veteran of over a dozen stage productions, including the Ziegfeld "Follies," before she entered motion pictures. At fourteen she accompanied a friend behind the scenes during a rehearsal at the Winter Garden in New York. Her beauty at once won her a position.

CAPITOL In Miss Brice's first THEATRE film, "My Man," now showing at the Capitol Theatre, her famous rendition of the song is heard on the Vitaphone in all the vigor and pathos of the original, and the play is built around it. A superlative cast supports the singing star, including Guinn Williams, Edna Murphy, Andre de Segurola, Richard Tucker, Billy Bevan, Ann Brody, Arthur Hoyt and Clarissa Selwynne. Mark Canfield did the story, which was adapted by Robert Lord, while L. Mark directed.

COLUMBIA THEATRE One of the distinguished actors in Charge of the Gauchos" now playing at the Columbia Theatre is Henry Kolker. Some of his recent pictures were "Hell's Island," "A Kiss in a Taxi" and "Rough House Rosie." For years he was one of the outstanding stars of the stage. He has portrayed the Argentine Mr Kolker portrays the role of Clarence the Theory.

DAMAGE CLAIM IS DISMISSED

JUDGE F. S. LAMPMAN DELIVERS FINDING IN CASE FOLLOWING MOTOR ACCIDENT

Drive Yourself Company Fails in Court Action—Both Documents on Speed of Boy Drivers

"I can see no good ground for giving judgment for the plaintiffs against either defendant. The action is dismissed," declared His Honor Judge F. S. Lampman in handing down decision yesterday morning in the County Court suit, brought by the Victoria U Drive Yourself Auto Livery, Limited, against F. Woods, a minor, and Thomas W. G. Woods, 1100 Kings Road, his father.

The plaintiffs were the owners of motor cars which they hire out to people who themselves drive the cars hired. The defendants were father and son, and on March 10, 1929, the son, who in September last" arrived at the age of sixteen years hired a car from plaintiffs and while it was out it was destroyed. The damages they suffered through the loss of the car the plaintiffs sought to recover from the defendants. Plaintiffs claimed $845 damages.

About 7.15 p.m. on March 10, the son hired the car and drove it away. Shortly after the car was destroyed in a collision with a standing pole on Richmond Road, and two of the three occupants were killed, but Woods escaped with injuries. The two others were boys named Wilbert H. Kettle and Jack Turton, who were both nineteen years of age, and bigger than Woods.

Judge Lampman said there was no evidence of any witnesses who saw the car as to who was driving at the time of the collision with the pole. While plaintiffs claimed Woods was driving, Woods said Kettle was driving. "The result is that I cannot find that Woods was driving."

NOT "OPERATING" CAR

Concerning the submission of plaintiffs' counsel that if Woods was not driving he was operating the car, His Honor said, "I do not think so. The statute appears to me to use the two words as meaning the one and the same thing, and that is the actual handling of the mechanism of the car. There can be no doubt that the general handing of the car only is contemplated by the certificate of competency. The more extended meaning of operate would extend to the operation of a fleet of fleets or stages, and one would not expect a boy of sixteen to be examined by a constable as to his fitness for such an undertaking. The first question that would arise is: Was the constable competent to examine for such a purpose? Then again it is not likely that the Legislature was at all apprehensive as to what mishap occur if our stages and buses got into the hands of boys and girls. It is more likely they had in mind a menace that already had arrived and that was the menace to life and property on the roads unless parents were made to look after their children.

"Young Woods is small and very young looking and I think the plaintiffs have only themselves to blame. Whoever prepared the written contract that they make customers sign, had more caution than they had, as I notice in it the hirer of a car is made to declare that he is over the age of twenty-one years.

"Boys of Woods' age may be able to drive cars in the daytime, but not after dark. They are too prone to drive at just one speed, and that is full speed ahead, and this speed too often devolves into such a speed that the car won't stay on the road, which was what happened in this case. Plaintiffs took the risk and should abide by it," Judge Lampman commented.

This deal illustrates a Minor suit take-out of an original Minor bid and the response thereto by the initial bidder. At Auction it is a simple take-out; at Contract, a forcing bid demanding a response.

SILENT POWER OF THE BIDDING

Auction Bidding — Following South's one Club, many players with a North's holding of nine Probable Tricks (seven in Diamonds and two in Spades) might be tempted to make a high pre-emptive bid in Diamonds. Such procedure, however, is unsound as it would operate more to shut out partner than opponents and that risk failure to arrive at the best bid in the combined partnership hands. South, holding a suit type rather than a No Trump type of distribution, denies Diamonds with a bid of one Spade, which begins the final declaration.

Contract Bidding—North's forcing take-out of two Diamonds, a demand upon partner for a further bid, is responded to by South showing his second suit: Spades. North assists by bidding three Spades, unwilling for the partnership to embark upon a game declaration until South's strength is known, but anticipating South to rebid Spades if holding better than a weak forced response. South, holding such rebid strength, bids four Spades which becomes the contract.

THE PLAY

West leads his fourth best Heart which East wins with the King, then plays the Ace and follows with the Heart 3. West winning the third trick with the Queen.

West considers his next move. It looks suicidal to lead either Diamonds or Clubs and his choice lies between a trump or the fourth Heart. He selects the former, although he sees that he will be Declarer's ruff in one hand and a discard in the other will do no harm in this particular instance. He lead is more or less a choice of evils.

Declarer wins the fourth trick with the 10 of Spades in Dummy, and the fifth trick by a lead of a small Diamond, trumping in his own hand to provide against a possible 4-2 split of the adverse Diamonds. Therefore it is practically a laydown for South, as after exhausting adverse trumps, he has two more tricks than he can use.

LAKES STOCKED WITH TROUT EGGS

Ninety Thousand Planted by Fisheries Officials in Forbidden Plateau Waters

COURTENAY, June 28.—Ninety thousand Kamloops trout eggs have just been successfully planted in the lakes of the Forbidden Plateau, Capt. H. M. Beadnall, of the Department of Fisheries, and Mr. B. Carrick from the Cowichan Lake hatchery and party, have returned from a pack trip in the plateau.

The lakes stocked are Panther Lake, McKenzie Lake, Douglas Lake and Prairie Lake. The work was accomplished under very difficult trail conditions, owing to the heavens of the Spring, but the spawn was planted in splendid condition.

Although the temperature of the water was low for the time of the year, there being still ice in one of the lakes, an abundance of food was noticeable and the coming hot days will quickly increase the temperature of the lakes permitting incubation in three or four years these reserve should supply abundant sport.

Friday—Breakfast: Cottage cheese, sliced pineapple. Lunch: Cheese of as much as desired of any one of the fresh acid fruits, such as apples, oranges, etc. Dinner: Baked sea bass, baked stuffed tomatoes, string bean salad, ice dessert.

Saturday—Breakfast: Baked eggs, toasted Triscuit, stewed figs. Lunch: Pint of buttermilk, ten or twelve dates. Dinner: Roast pork, French artichokes, baked grouped beets; molded vegetable salad of green peas, celery, baked apple, ice cream.

"Baked stuffed tomatoes—Remove the interior from the desired number of firm tomatoes, but do not peel. Mix this scooped-out portion with the same amount of chopped mushrooms and a smaller amount of finely ground celery. Fill tomatoes to overflowing and around sides with this mixture and sprinkle Melba toast crumbs over all. Bake in earthenware or cooking glass in moderate oven for about twenty minutes. (Longer cooking renders the tomatoes too mushy.) Add a generous lump of butter to each tomato with a sprinkling of chopped parsley when ready to serve.

Senorita de Alvarez Goes Under in Great Upset at Wimbledon

British Woman Defeats Spanish Ace—Eileen Bennett Loses to Veteran Mrs. Bundy—Borotra Eliminates Wilmer Allison

WIMBLEDON, June 28 — The worst side the Bloxham Beaux ever progressed today in the famous Wimbledon tournament. The greatest sensation was provided by Mrs. C. C. McLaughlin, of Great Britain, who eliminated the dashing Spanish star, Senorita de Alvarez, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2. The Spanish girl had been in the final with Miss Helen Wills last year.

The veteran Mrs. May Bundy, of California, who won the women's singles title twenty-three years ago, defeated Miss Eileen Bennett, youthful English star, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, as that Mrs McLaughlin's victory was something of consolation to the British public.

Some indication of what might be expected if France and the United States meet again this year in the Davis Cup challenge round was provided in two of the three men's singles matches on today's card.

TWO AMERICANS BEATEN

Jean Borotra, Gallic idol, in a rather bounding racquet wielders who have been largely instrumental in bringing France her tennis prestige, eliminated from the men's singles, two of Uncle Sam's Davis Cup men, John Hennessey and Wilmer Allison. In the third match of this event, however, disposed of Christian Boussus, of France, 6-2, 6-7, 6-4, becoming the only American to qualify in the last event today. Cochet defeated Hennessey 6-4, 6-4, 6-7, while Borotra, the bounding Basque eliminated Allison 6-3, 6-1, 4-6, 6-7.

Bob Canadian Davis Cup players, Willard Crocker and Dr Jack Wright, Montreal, won their first round matches in the All-England Plate competition, for men defeated in the first or second rounds of the championship tournament. Crocker defeated C. Higgins, Britain, 6-3, 6-7, and Wright triumphed over Lester, Cambridge player, 6-8, 8-6, 10-8.

Miss Helen Jacobs, of California, disposed of Miss Jean Fry, one of the younger Britishers, 6-3, 6-4.

CLUBMEN DOWN MILLMEN AND REGAIN LEAD

Chalk Up 16-8 Victory in Regular Slugging Bee—Steele Is Knocked From Mound

SONS AND SIDNEY IN SECOND BERTH

Trouncing Sidney, previous leaders, 16-8, the Clubmen of Oak Park last night in a regular slugging bee. Tillicums jumped back into the first place in the closely contested Senior Amateur Baseball League race. The millmen dropped into second berth in company with the rapidly climbing Sons of Canada, while the Sokers and the Eagles still hedging up the rear with a lone game separating them from the Canadians and Bidney.

EIGHTH-INNING RALLY

Last night's battle was an interesting affair for seven innings, but an eighth-inning rally by the clubmen, during which they pasted Williams offerings to the tune of five hits, which resulted in six runs, turned a closely contested ball game into a one-sided affair.

Sidney started off like a million by taking to Cann's offerings in the first inning and collecting a four runs. To this they added one in the second, two in the third and one in the fourth.

COME FROM BEHIND

Tillicums had some difficulty in getting to Wade Steele's offerings in the earlier stages and as a result were on the short end of a 7-3 score at the end of the third.

The next session, however, was just too bad for Sidney as the clubmen got to Steele, knocked him out of the box and cheered in five markers to place them out in front for the first time. Williams was called to the rostrum here and went along pretty until the eighth.

Sidney came back in their half of the eighth and sent a line drive the distance to the scoreboard and took a lead of two runs. Cann was the hero of the fifth, when he stepped out to Steele knocked him out of the box and cheered in five markers to place them out in front for the first time. Williams was called to the rostrum here and went along pretty until the eighth.

Sidney came back in their half of the eighth and sent a line drive the distance to the scoreboard and took a lead of two runs. Cann, who had been throwing indifferent ball in the first four innings, went to work in the fifth and from then on held the millmen hitless.

HEAVY BARRAGE

A heavy barrage of hits in the eighth gave the Tillicums six runs and wrote finis on a perfectly good ball game. Williams scored once again in the ninth.

Dave Barr, plays, one by each club, were thrown in for good measure.

Cann pulled himself out of a neat jam in the fourth when he breezed Drysdale with the cushions loaded. Bert Cann had hit safely before his exit in the first of the fourth when he struck out Cann with three on.

The Tillicums collected fourteen hits, while Cann allowed ten safeties and breezed eight. Steele limited five.

Lines, of Sydney and Green, of the Tillicums, pulled the most amusing parade with three hits apiece out of five trips to the plate.

Jackie Barr, Tillicums centerfielder, had a mishap in the third inning when he collided with a Sidney player in endeavoring to pick up Lane's fly. After a short rest he was able to continue for the first half of the inning, but his injury prevented him from appearing in the game later.

Introducing the New Aquaplane Board

TWO months ago L. L. Harrison, Toronto, imported the latest thing in the outboard motor board game from motorized aquaplane board—but, it was not until this week that he could try to ride the blamed contraption. This aquaplane or ski board is a six-foot affair to which is attached a racing outboard motor. The driver—or rider—starts the engine and then stands up and rides—or tries to ride—the outfit a la aquaplane. The way in which the contraption can jump and curvette makes a wild western bronco look like a rocking horse. Bert Bury, the hockey and lacrosse player, tackled the outfit the other night and he rode it successfully for half an hour, but, just when he was pulling into the dock in a conquering hero attitude, the ski board decided to cut up a fine extra didoes and bucked Bury into the lake. Going over a twelve-inch wave at full speed this board actually leaps entirely clear of the water. It takes a combination of a human eel and a slack wire performer to ride this, the strangest craft in the outboard fleet.

Tennis Finals Slated for Today at Willows Courts

Marsh Gordon and Hocking Will Meet for Men's Title, While Hoge Leeming and Marjorie McFarlane Will Seek Ladies' Crown

Hocking continued his winning ways in the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club's tourney yesterday afternoon, when he took Jerry Bowden into camp but only after each had won a set at 6-2, but Hocking uncorked some really good tennis in the last set which Bowden could not handle and took a love set for the third and last of the match.

Mowatt and Wade reached the men's double finals by defeating Whitney-Griffiths and Dougerty, in three hard sets.

The finals will start this afternoon at 2 o'clock sharp, with the men's open and ladies' open singles—Gordon vs. Hocking and Miss MacFarlane vs. Miss H. Leeming.

Former Pitcher New York Giants

Jim Barnes is not only a fast golfer, but he is also a very quick-witted fellow.

He was matched up with Cyril Walker, who is notoriously slow. In a big competition Walker took a lot of clear thinking saved him from being disqualified for slow play. Walker's sloth-like performance after a shot Cyril took walk down the fairway and examine the topography minutely before taking his next swing. This would have been maddening to any other fast player, but Barnes saved himself a lot of fretting by carrying around a newspaper. When Walker started away to study the lay of the land, Barnes took out his newspaper and sat down on a bunker to read. "When that fellow gets ready to play alone more" he told his caddy, "just let me know."

The only time Barnes was ever "flat-footed" in his career was during a match over in Scotland when an old Scotchman was his caddy. Barnes asked for his spoon, but the old Scotchman replied, "That's a midiron shot."

He wouldn't give Jim the spoon, and finally started to run away with the club. When Jim caught him and took the spoon, the old fellow dropped the bag and quit the links during. "All right, caddy for yourself."

Pair of Pros Out in Front of Field With Scores of 142 Each

Bobby Jones Takes 75 in Heavy Downpour to Take Second Place Along With Schutte With 144—Hagen Loses All Chance With 81

By WALTER TRUMBULL

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

WINGED FOOT GOLF CLUB MAMARONECK, N.Y., June 28.—The end of the second day's play of the National Open golf championship found Gene Sarazen and Al Espinosa tied in front, tied with scores of 142. Bobby Jones and Denny Schutte are tied for second with 144. Then came Tommy Armour with 145. Leo Diegel with 148 and George Von Elm with 148. In all human probability the title will go to one of these seven stars. Henry Cox, for example, of Mill River, Connecticut, has a total of 152. He is a beautiful golfer and perhaps the best one some of those seven, but the point is he can't win. Neither can he now any other player can give such men as Diegel from now right on ten strokes in the remaining thirty-six holes and hold them to the finish line.

GENE SARAZEN

Espinosa is a great golfer, but he usually has one bad round. Schutte is good, but he lacks the big tournament experience of the others. This youngster used to be amateur champion of West Virginia and had flirted with Britain in the Fort Myers tournament, losing the playoff. Sarazen is always dangerous. Armour is a veteran fighter, and Jones is Jones. Most persons think one of this trio will win the crown and the Atlanta marvel still is the favorite.

Von Elm shot a great round of 70 today, but he is just a few strokes too far back to be a good bet. Leo Diegel is only one shot better than Von Elm, but Leo is likely to be very good or pretty bad. If he strikes one of his brilliant streaks he will be tough to beat.

HAGEN SLIPS BADLY

Walter Hagen added an 81 to his 70 of yesterday, which gives him a total of 151, too big a handicap even for the Haig. Horton Smith gives a 71 on a 76 for a total of 153. That doesn't appear to be within striking distance. Johnny Farrell, present champion, added an 81 to an 84 and the resulting 165 keeps him on the sidelines temporarily, as only the first sixty men and ties play the final two rounds. It took 150 to qualify and sixty-seven made the grade. Farrell is a grand fellow and a grand golfer but he was way off his game in this competition.

The real story of today, as it seems to me, is the crowd. Girls in pretty bright dresses, low shoes and silk stockings, no one stockings at all, women in smart new hats, men in Summer suits—all of them adding up to a crowd of a thousand, and by far the majority of them without numerous or lusty brollas, splashed through mud and the long grass of the rough in the driving, gusty rain, to watch the stars. Even Atlanta came up for second round in seventy-five drippy shots.

LAKES ON GREENS

The cups were filled with water. There were lakes on the greens and time and again the referee had to lift the ball and carry it around the cup, placing it the same distance away but where there was not a river between it and the hole.

As a golfer, certainly Bobby Jones needs no alibi. In front of him George von Elm shot a 70 for the score of the afternoon. Playing back of him, Tommy Armour shot a 71. Nevertheless, with such specters as Francis Ouimet and Gil Dwyer, who were as nearly drowned as myself, and Johnny Weissmuller who can swim in any weather, I followed Jones around the lake country and the marshes and I saw him running up putts with a mid-iron, many of which I believe would have been strawberry pie for him on a dry green. I saw him take two putts from nine—yes, and five—feet away, where his first putt didn't go much more than half-way to the cup. As the ball rolled it left ripples behind it.

Sarazen, Espinosa and Schutte all were unlucky to be out early in the morning and had completed their rounds by noon, in fine golfing weather. Von Elm left the first tee at 12 40, and Diegel followed at 1.20. Jones started at 2 o'clock, just as the rain began to fall. At this time Von Elm had reached the ninth green. Armour began his round at 2 30 and was three holes ahead and quite in trained hardness when Jones was playing the third, fourth and fifth holes. Then the rain darkened a bit, only to come down again later later still, it stopped. Bobby played the last three holes in nothing worse than a drizzle.

ARMOUR GOES GOOD

Von Elm's score was 35-35—70 for the 18 holes. Tommy Armour got a 36-35—71. Armour, therefore, could have had a 69 on the first nine holes while the rain was heaviest. Jones, who kept his steady shots through dry and wet weather rather than the long and three birdies in the eighteen holes. He had a 36 on the first nine and then he took a six. These were the fifth, the sixth, the eighth, the ninth and the seventeenth, where he took three putts. On the second hole, a twenty-foot putt hit the cup squarely, ran around the rim, and hung and laid flipping on the edge.

On the eighth, Jones chipped from a trap to within a yard of the cup and sank the putt. In spite of his six on the fifth hole, Bobby got a good break there. His drive was hooked and headed for a clump of trees, when it hit a spectator in the neck and dropped on the edge of the fairway. Here Jones tried to play a wooden club and almost missed the shot, why, I don't know. His third was short of the green, his fourth was on and he took two putts.

In shooting his 34 for the first nine, Armour got five pars and three birdies. Von Elm, in his grand round of 70, made ten pars and five birdies. It was painful playing under any conditions, and, with the course as it was, when he traveled the last nine holes, it was work for both a grand golfer and a marine engineer.

GREAT UNCERTAINTY

Jones, Sarazen, Armour, all former open champions and Von Elm, former amateur champion, have a great tournament. Even Diegel, Schutte and perhaps one or two others, will be setting the pace and under the greatest strain. The first 27 holes are round one, a decide-up victory. It may not be decided until the last hole is played in the afternoon.

A shot a little off line, a bad lie in a trap or near a trap, a missed putt—these are the things by which champions are fall. One wonderingly play at high tension, with nerves taut and frayed. No wonder they lose points during the progress of a championship game. Or, one's unable to eat, and sometimes comes to the last hole unable to sit down and cry!

Any game of golf is bad enough for a duffer, but it is tougher still, in a big game of golf.

But it all comes under the head of pleasure, and there is something more lovely to a player or a spectator than a perfect drive, approach and putt. A hole in one is largely but an earnest of what we shall see in heaven as most poor golfing mortals in this life.

Nebraska Wildcat Gets Decision Over Charley Belanger in Ten-Round Mix in South

FANS LITTER RING AFTER POOR BOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Ace Hudkins, Nebraska "Wildcat" won the decision from Charley Belanger of Canada, after ten rounds of slow fighting here tonight. The Nebraskan won every round and outfought his opponent all the way. Hudkins weighed 161½, and Belanger 171½. A capacity crowd of more than 6,000 persons, accounting for a gate of around $29,000, saw a bout so disappointing that the crowd showered with papers and programmes in many of the rounds.

Hudkins forced the fighting, driving the Canadian around the ring steadily, but neither landed many effective blows.

BIG FIELD AFTER B.C. HARD COURT TENNIS TITLES

VANCOUVER, June 28. The cream of Vancouver's tennis stars will compete in the British Columbia Clay Court Tennis Tennis championships at the Jericho Tennis Club next week. Close to two hundred entries have been received for the various events, most of them from local clubs. The United States entry is smaller than in former years, due to the fact that the Pacific Northwest sectionals will be played at Portland during the week of July 8 and to the fact that many of the southerners will be occupied at home July 4. Henry Prusoff, C. McLaren, and Kyran Hines, all of Seattle, will comprise the foreign menace in this tourney.

Letters to the Editor

SOFTBALL GAMES

To the Sports Editor:

Sir,—Being very interested in softball and having watched many games here, I would like to offer a few suggestions that I feel would help to improve the game, both from the players standpoint and also the spectators.

1. Have regular base bags, sewn all round and stuffed with sawdust or something suitable, not an odd sack or an old piece of canvas that gets kicked all over the place. The bases should be marked to the ground, too.

2. The home plate should be of proper size and made of wood, not just an old piece of tarn paper or an old cabbage leaf as I have seen used. Give the batter and the umpire a fair chance to judge the balls from the pitcher. This, I think, is very important.

3. If all the players were to wear the sweaters or jerseys of their respective teams, it would look very much better than some players wearing no uniforms or distinctions at all.

4. The spectators should help the teams by not crowding too near the base lines. It would give the players much better chance, and avoid a possible accident. Prevention is better than cure.

As an example of a good pitch, I would suggest that the various teams take a pattern from the Work Point ground. There, the bags are right, the home plate is perfect, the base lines are not crowded, and a good game is the result. Softball is a splendid game, and is growing in popularity every year, so if the teams would just give these few suggestions a little attention, they would be well repaid by a better and fairer game, which is what we all want.

Thanking you, sir,

Sincerely yours,

R. A. BROWNING.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY

If a player's ball moves when he lifts loose impediments within a few inches of the ball, is he penalized?

Answered by WILLIE OGG

Yes. The penalty for moving the ball while lifting loose impediments from within a few inches of the ball is one stroke. This is explained in Rule 12, Section 2, which states that "when a ball is in play, if a player or his partner, or either of their caddies accidentally moves his or their ball, or by touching anything cause it to move the penalty shall be one stroke." This question is also defined fully and every angle covered in Rule 12 Sections 1, 2 and 3, and Rule 28, Section 1.

HORNSBY MAKES ANOTHER GAIN

Chicago Slugger Now Hitting at .356 Clip—Paul Waner Has Four Day

Rogers Hornsby continued his fight upward in the Big Six yesterday, when he got two out of four at St. Louis to lift his mark two points to .356. One of the drives was his thirteenth homer, which helped the Cubs win from the champions by 8-5. All of the remaining Big Six entries were kept idle by rain, save Paul Waner, who got one out of four.

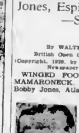
Hagen Figures One Of First Five Will Capture U. S. Title

Believes Open Champion Will Be Among Jones, Espinosa, Armour, Sarazen or Schutte —Says Gene Most Consistent

By WALTER HAGEN
British Open Golf Champion
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

WINGED FOOT GOLF CLUB, MAMARONECK, N. Y., June 28. Bobby Jones, Atlanta attorney and amateur and Gene Sarazen, Tommy Armour, Al Espinosa and Denny Shute, four determined professional golfers, with furious, big fight, or what might be termed the "wind-up" in the open golf championship.

Sarazen and Espinosa are out in front with two rounds played with equal scores of 142—great golf. Then come Jones and Schutte with 144 and Armour with 145. Leo Diegel, with 146, may get up close enough if he does a grand round tomorrow morning, but I look for the winner among Jones, Espinosa, Armour, Sarazen and Schutte.



LEO DIEGEL

The rest of us who qualified will be out playing, but we will not be in the centre ring which is reserved for the leaders. The battle among the leaders should be as interesting as one of those "battle royals" the American Legion used to stage in the ball park at St. Petersburg, Florida, during the boom years.

SARAZEN MOST CONSISTENT

In a battle royal a number of huskies are put in the ring and at the starting signal they begin shooting punches at one another. The last man on his feet is declared the winner. That will be about the way of it in the open championship. Of the men who are up front, Jones, Sarazen and Armour look like the best starters. Of the fours, Sarazen has played the most consistent golf.

Fair weather and rain was the portion of the day. The golfers who had a way early having fine weather and those who started in the afternoon having rain, which at one time assumed the proportions of a cloud burst. Jones, Armour and Van Elm had the rain as their portion, and Sarazen, Espinosa and Schutte got home before a drop of water fell.

According to the scores made by these leaders in the fight the rain had little effect.

I watched Jones play nine holes, and I should say the rain had not hurt one stroke. This was at the fifth hole when the rain came in a torrent and washed out his second shot, a blasted, which he failed to connect with and knocked a few feet. But at the eighth hole his second was trapped and his explosion landed in the soggy green, close by the hole, and stayed there. Jones did a 75. Van Elm playing through the rain, scored a 76, and Armour, who was in all of it, did a 78.

CROWDS FOLLOW JONES

A large gallery followed Jones through the rain, many of the number being women in thin Summer dresses and with no protection. They looked as if they had jumped into Long Island Sound after the rain swept through the crowd as Bobby teeed-off along on the fifth hole.

I took a soaking to watch Bobby play the first nine holes. The sky looked bad but before he teeed, and I thought he would encounter rough going and wanted to see what effect it would have, as it takes very heavy rain to increase the difficulty of playing.

It trained a few drops while Jones played the first hole, where he got a perfect par four. Then the rain coming. Bobby hit his tee shot to the second on the toe of his driver and dribbled it into the rough at the right. He used a mashie niblick and was trapped with his second and took a five to the hole. He hooked his iron at the seventh hole into a trap and took a four. Up to this time there had been no rain, but it started to come down hard as he played the fourth.

Bobby drove a very long ball down the fairway, placed a fine pitch and run to the green and holed his putt or a birdie, and it was raining hard. Thus on the first three holes, when Miss Hyall and Peden vs. Miss Sluggett and Crossley.

Miss Perrinam and Rattan vs. A. N. Other and Christie.

Miss M. Miller and Corfield vs. Miss Copas and Butler.

Miss Tallow and Rayment vs. Miss Mawhood and Bird.

Miss Mountain and Johnson vs. Mrs. Mawhood and Lee.

the rain came in torrents, Jones made a birdie, a par and a birdie.

The fifth hole was played under the most difficult conditions, as the rain increased in volume until it was like a cloudburst. As there was some wind against him and the rain was heavy—it was difficult to see an iron—there is no doubt that it was a tremendous handicap. Bobby took a six to the hole, missing his second when he attempted to play a brassie off the fairway. He slipped and knocked the ball only a few feet.

The rain then took him a stroke, but he finished the nine in 38, dropping two strokes before the rain and playing the last six in the rain in par, so that altogether the rain did not prove as serious a handicap as it was reported around our clubhouse. Except on the long fifth hole, I did not see Jones any strokes.

Horton Smith, had a 77 for a total of 153, which leaves him too far away for him to hope to win. Horton has not been himself in this championship, and he believes he is overgolfed. He has a good many years before him and nothing to worry about. I expect he will do well tomorrow and get up among the leaders by tomorrow night. Horton hooked a number of shots and did not have a great deal of confidence on the putting green.

I started at 8.36 a.m. I have not been up this early in a long time. I heard the birds singing outside my window when I got out of bed prepared to make a great effort to get among the leaders, but before I had journeyed very far I found I was making a great effort, but my effort was to qualify so I could crack the ball around tomorrow.

I took 81 for a total of 157, which will permit me to pitch on the final two rounds. I still hope to pass a few boys before the finish, but the leaders are too far away. I need to use the field glasses I purchased in Berlin to see them.

I played bad golf. My approach putts were too short and I took three putts more often than I have for a long time. At the sixteenth hole I took a seven, hitting a number of trees before I finally hit the hole.

Will Be Seen in Action at Athletic Park Today

ART "DOC" WEBSTER

Plans for the Victoria-Capitals who will come in action against the Royal Athletic Park against the Tacoma Kittens, in two games today, are rather sorry. The first at 2.30 o'clock and the second at 6 o'clock.

While crossing a railway bridge a small boy was astonished to see two freight trains running on the same track and about to crash head-on. He stood and stiffened the smash. Later, some officials, learning that there had been an eyewitness, found the lad and asked: "What were you thinking at the time of the crash?" "Well, the boy answered slowly, I thought it was a rotten way to run a railway."

PUBLIC UTILITY AND ELECTRICAL STOCK FAVORED

Various Issues Forge to New Highs at New York Under Great Volume of Trading

PEOPLE'S GAS IS GREAT FEATURE

NEW YORK, June 28.—Public utility and electrical equipment stocks monopolized speculative interest in today's stock market, forging to new highs under a tremendous volume of trading. Industrials also presented several points of strength, but the advance was universally distributed and the rails were inclined to hesitate. Call money held steady at 10 per cent.

People's gas was the spectacular feature in the public utility list, soaring twenty-five points to a new high at 340 1-2, and closing at the top. Commonwealth Power closed thirteen and three quarter points higher at 223. American Power & Light, Columbia Gas & Electric, Consolidated Gas, Electric Power & Light, Engineers Public Service and National Power & Light all broke into new high ground.

General Electric ran up more than eight points to a new high at 324, and Westinghouse Electric closed about seven points higher at 185, after having attained a new peak at 186 3-4. Telephone stocks were also in brisk demand.

International Business Machine, Commercial Solvents, Otis Elevator, Ritter Dental, Timken Roller Bearing, R. H. Macy were among the score or so other issues to set new peak prices. All three classes of Erie stock moved into new high, but part of the gains lost. Missouri, Kansas & Texas touching a new high at 37 3-4.

French francs moved to a new high level, but the other leading currencies showed little change in quiet foreign exchange trading.

An avalanche of trading in convertibles swept the bond market to a new high volume for the year in today. Eight of the stock feature issues, led by American Telephone 4½ and International Telephone 4½ issues, made net advances of six and a half and six points respectively to record peaks, limited over the extent of $10,000,000 par value.

MARKET STRONG AT THE START

AND HOLDS ITS STRENGTH THROUGH THE SESSION AT CHICAGO

Advance Checked by Selling Against Offers—Southwest Doing Some—Liverpool Closes Higher

(Brenson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, June 28.—Wheat market was strong from the start, and prices advanced about 3 cents in compared with the previous finish and fixed near the top. Houses with Eastern connections and leading local operators were good buyers, and there was a return of public interest.

Selling against offers checked the advance, but the market closed was credited with some selling Liverpool market just one decline yesterday and closed 3-8 to 7-8 higher.

Buenos Aires was 3 1-8 to 3 1-4 higher at the close. Canadian Pool report, with average contents of 85 for three provinces compared with 81 last year, Russella bureau figured the report surprised a crop of 300,000,000 bushels. Bullish agrmnt for Pool said, with ideal conditions from here to harvest, a crop of 400,000,000 bushels could be produced. But, unless July weather changes were for 375,000,000 bushels. Argentine yield might drop to 330,000,000 if hot weather obtains southern Alberta.

Dry weather in Australia and Argentina is also attracting more attention. Some Argentine will be released tomorrow morning. We are still bullish on wheat.

Whitney Letter

(Brenson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, June 28.—Whitney, of the Wall Street Financial Bureau, today says:

Time money was loaned as low as 7-1-2 per cent, acceptance rates have again been reduced by 1-8 of 1 per cent, the at-one-time dreaded month of June has been forgotten, standpoint of the money market been passed, and the market is continuing its advance.

Week-end profit taking will amount to virtually nothing and higher prices will be recorded in the early part of next week, and, if all likelihood, the advance will continue right over the July 4 holidays. General market conditions being satisfactory, we can devote attention to the individual issues.

Public Service of N.J. has drawn close to its objective of 120; take a quarter of your profits here and let balance on the way up to the objective. Compare profit taking in Electric Power & Light and start profit taking in National Power & Light. Likewise between 133-135 take some profit in Consolidated Gas. Take these profits and put them into Consolidated Gas. Electric Power, Missouri, Kansas & Texas is only in the early stages of its advance, so continue to buy it, particularly while you can do so below 35. Utility is the best price which was recorded last year, and that is for an objective of approximately 75. Do not be attracted by a price of 190 for your holdings of International Tel. & Tel. but wait for a price some $15 to $20 a share higher. In the oil group continue to buy Anaconda while this can be done below 120. Despite its advance American & Foreign Power is still a purchase and no stock should be sold until a range of 180-185 has been reached. Demand the increased dividend in Corn Products is in has nothing to do with the factors on which business recommendation was based. The stock should be bought any place below 160 and should not be sold within $20 a share of that price. Continue purchase of Bethlehem Steel while it is available within the range of 111-114, and Pullman, particularly while available below 80. Bing Warner official five months earning statement shows net income of approximately $4,000,000, or $15.4 a share. Earnings are expanding, and a $13 earner the stock must be considered cheap around 130. Continue to buy it, particularly within the range of 120-125.

Curb securities. Recommendation is made to purchase Pilmer-Brown Prostate Meter before it gets too far into the 30's. There is a unique situation in this company which justifies much higher prices, the deposed condition of the company at one particular time. It is necessary for the investigator to examine a half dozen of them comparatively before definitely rating the value of the corporation's stocks and bonds. Copy's, 1929, Associated Editors, Inc.

Wall Street Journal

NEW YORK, June 28.—Increase of $122,000,000 in business done during the week ended June 26, caused no appreciable change in speculation today. This explanation was well in line with Wall Street's expectations in view of the prevailing trend of the market, and prices swept ahead at a pace fully equal to anything seen in the current phase of forward movement.

Another indication of fundamental improvement in the money situation was the increased volume of time funds which were proved for employment.

New record highs were reached by General Electric and Westinghouse. Other issues pushed into new high ground on the general impulse.

However, nothing in the industrial division was comparable to the further burst of strength which occurred in the utility department. People's Gas soared sensationally, continuing reports of a split-up of the present shares, which have frequently been denied by the management.

Examine a firm's balance sheets

before buying its securities

Careful examination of the balance sheet of a corporation will tell much about that company.

One of the best ways of determining the investment rating of a corporation's securities is to examine its balance sheet and study it. To the uninitiated, however, this sheet is a jumble of figures that mean little, but with expert help such as that of our bonds you can find many facts about the corporation in it.

Some companies have little trick by which they make a capitalization balance sheet look more attractive than it is, or more than the capitalization value on good will, patents, and trade marks—a value that is far in excess of their actual worth.

In the balance sheet of a subsidiary corporation issued from the parent corporation should be searched for. Moreover as the balance sheet indicates only the supposed condition of the company at one particular time it is necessary for the investigator to examine a half dozen of them comparatively before definitely rating the value of the corporation's stocks and bonds. LEADERS HOLD THEIR ADVANCE

THINGS MARKETWISE ARE KEEPING PACE WITH THINGS MINEWISE

Noranda Biggest Trader in Mine Section at Toronto—Oils Stronger, Led by Home

(Stats, Perkins & Co.)

TORONTO, June 28.—Leaders that swung up yesterday held fairly firm today on the Toronto Standard Stock and Mining Exchange, on a generally sound market. It was conclusively demonstrated that, despite bearish predictions, things marketwise are keeping pace with things minewise.

The Lindsley group is holding the attention of the public which is attracted by rumors that, involve some, or all of the important Lindsley units in a change of the capitalization structure.

Noranda was the biggest trader in the mines section, opening 50 cents off and under yesterday's closing, and up to $59 high, near which level it closed. Pend Oreille had a similar performance and gained to $9.80 highly worth perhaps the close.

International Nickel was a shade off, while Lake Shore, Falconbridge Nickel, Mining Corporation and Mining Corp. showed strong tendencies. Of the Lindsley group, Sudbury Basin, Ventures and Sheriff-Gordon were firm. Tech Hughes and Hudson Bay M. and S. had good support. Big Dominion opened 3 up at $1.40, gained 2 points and then receded $1.38, a net gain of one point in a heavy session. Amulet and Abana closed fractionally up at $1.34 and $1.80 respectively.

Oils were stronger under the leadership of Home, which made an offer, with

Mines and Oil
Review at Vancouver

Newbee has that six feet of ore at the 300 foot level. The grade is believed to be about 10 per cent of copper.

There is no explanation of the rise of Anchorite. Meanwhile Popham is seriously ill and the directors have to meet this week to consider an underwriting of 500,000 shares at $1 with prior rights to shareholders. May be the cleansing of loose stock is the cause of the rise.

Bidgood—The shares of the company wound up in 1920 are 50c today, which is the price level at which shareholders will have to take up the new stock.

Progress was reported Wednesday from Spooner No. 2, which is in the vicinity of Pearl Harbour, at a depth of 245 feet in the time at a total depth of 5,415 feet yesterday, while the crew was working resetting the diamond drill before going down further. It is expected to start drilling at that depth sometime today. Although no appreciable increase in the gas flow has been struck here, officials of the company stated that they are now at a depth of 245 feet of naphtha gas, which was struck some time ago, and is being maintained steadily as the bit slowly works away from the contact of limestone formation.

Spooner No. 1 is at the present time standing at 450 feet in the time and will be drilled deeper as soon as the diamond is released from No. 2, officials of the company stated.

McLeod's three wells, producing 60 barrels. The first three wells production of McLeod No. 2 will soon be ready. The first barrel goes up the square inch was applied Tuesday morning, and again Wednesday by George Cloakey, manager and director of the company. It is said he had returned to the city from a trip to the Pearl Harbour district. Figures obtained on the three wells are 60 barrels. The present production at No. 3 is about sixty-five barrels per day, Mr. Cloakey stated. No. 4, which has been producing for the past few days, has shown high pressure, and has been making about 125 barrels every twenty-four hours. The pressure is still strong flow of wet naphtha gas on Lake 4, and the indications are that time up to Tuesday without back pressure, the flow was about 12,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Leaked the 4 in 2 inch line for tools and also waiting for a new 10 inch casing. Should be resumed as soon as this bit is located. Lake 5 reached at a total depth of about 4,420 feet and over 1,000 feet of gas. Mr. Cloakey stated that the three wells would will be put on production for some time before any further drilling would be done deeper than the time. McDougall Spooner No 2, which has been on production for some time, was put on production test Wednesday morning with 800 pounds back pressure, according to announcement by officials of the company last night. The gas increase has been recorded in the naphtha, production of the former production of about seventy-five barrels per day, is maintained. The crew was pulling two and one-half inch casing at 5 a.m. Wednesday, the official stated. This hole is now at a total of 2,435 feet and it is planned to drill to about 3,000 feet and then run the twenty and one-half inch casing to that depth. Drilling will be resumed with smaller hole until the limestone is reached.

Home Oil—Major James Lowery, chairman and director of Home Oil Company on his return from an extended visit to Eastern Canada centres, visiting the field yesterday, discovered that Home wells No. 1 and No. 2 were producing, or producing enough to give 60 barrels of naphtha daily. Some repairs to the wells were made, and completed at Home No. 2 yesterday, including the replacing of the gas separators and from this well, he said, the amount of naphtha capacity of extraction should be obtained therefrom. Some gas was escaping from the production of these two wells, he said, and improvements for a dividend fund. He predicted that Home No. 1 would be as good a producer as Home No. 2.

Lowery No. 1 well is to be spudded in soon, Lowery said. It which is to be drilled on the holdings of the company in section 11, immediately south of the Associated holdings. Work is expected to begin a week, stated Major James Lowery Heavy cartage drill is at work here and the Imperial Oil is undertaking the drilling.

Hightwood well, on the Hightwood structure west of Turner Beverley, is now standing at fifty-seven feet in the time and was being held for a short time Wednesday when the crew was waiting for drilling rods, according to information received from the field Wednesday. The total depth of the well at present is 1,226 feet. According to J. H. McLeod, production manager of the Imperial, the hole has been going through a very hard formation of the limestone. Drilling will proceed immediately. Casing being run at Southwest Pete.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Sergeant (to a soldier during exercises)—Now 87, if a riot were to break out and the command given to fire, what would you do?

No. 87—I would fire.

Sergeant—If that order means firing on your father or mother, what would you do?

No. 87—I would not fire.

Sergeant—Why not?

No. 87—Because there would be no need, as they are both dead already.

SHIP POUNDS ON ROCKS AT POINT REYES

Coastguardsmen Remove Twelve Remaining Members of Crew of Wrecked Freighter Hartwood

SMALL HOPE HELD OF SAVING CRAFT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28. — A message from coastguards at Point Reyes this morning said the twelve remaining members of the crew aboard the wrecked freighter Hartwood had been taken off and that the ship was pounding to pieces on the rocks. Sixteen members of the crew were rescued shortly before midnight.

The distressed vessel flashed an SOS at 9.18 o'clock last night and shortly afterward messaged the Mackay-Federal Marine Radio Station at Daly City that she had gone on the rocks off Point Reyes.

A coastguard crew went to the rescue and took off sixteen of the men. Rescue workers reported that the other members of the crew and the captain refused to leave the ship.

The Hartwood sailed from San Francisco at 5 p.m. Thursday bound for Wilmpa, Wash., She is of 5,45 tons, and is owned by the Hartwood Lumber Company.

The coastal steamer Admiral Peoples was standing by the distressed ship shortly after she went on the rocks, the radio message said.

Outboard Motor Racing Offers Thrills

THIS outboard hydroplane racing game is a young man's game and the youngsters are taking to it like ducks to a frog pond. Two sixteen-year-old lads, sons of well-known officers at the National Yacht Club with twin all-Canadian Class "B" racing outfits, are in the training basin. This picture shows No. 1 Kitchener, son of Lieutenant-Commander John Russell; No. 2, J. R. Arthur, son of Harris Ardat, of Windsor, a well-known sportsman in connection with the Windsor Yacht Club. Young Russell is a bachelor's athletic career, and No. 3 shows the pair of them in a neck-and-neck dash are on with Canada and the N.Y.C. basin, Toronto.

Wharf Ticket Offices of B.C. Coast Steamship Service to Provide Facilities

In preparation for the questionnaire which prospective travelers to the United States from some parts of Canada will have to fill in, announcement was made at the B.C. Coast Steamship Service offices yesterday that accommodation will be provided at the wharf offices for filling in the cards by those who have not previously done so.

These cards have aroused much discussion in Canada, as tending to complicate matters for the United States, and have been the subject of explanation by various representatives of the neighboring republic during the last few months.

The first sailing in the Coast service which will be affected by the new regulation will be the sailing to Seattle from Victoria on Monday afternoon.

Steamship men do not yet profess to estimate how the service will operate and how much delay will be occasioned by the compliance with the new order. There, however, expect much grumbling on the part of passengers.
